A Desert Jack's Hee-Haw as Interpreted by the Orb's Office Goat.

A song I sing of the desert ree, And the men who brave it sturdily, The treasure rocks in its sandy sea To wrest from where gods hide tnem. A song I sing of the Ultgard hush, A song that's rough as the tempets' flush, A song that's quick as the bronchos' rush Strong as the thews that guide them.

'Tis of mal-pai rock and spectral sea, Of dead men's ghosts and their cerie dree,

Of grisly crags that the spooks o'ersee, And sun's white wrath e'er blazing. And of red-hot skulls who've never told Where the canyons lie that gems enfold, Under mountain peaks that sag with gold

In wastes remote, amazing.

Tis a song that wails as death bells knoll.

Yet a song that booms as war drums roll, This song taught me by the desert's soul In speech unknown to mortals. And the dead bones, when my pibroch

Clauk in spectral files across the hills, Their thirst to slake in ghostly rills Far from the desert's portal.

"Jest Do Yer Best."

BY JAMES WRITCOMB RILEY.]

The signs are bad when folks commence A-findin' fault with Providence, And balkin' 'cause the earth don't shake At every prancin'step they take. No man is grate till he can see Llow less than little he would be, Ef stripped to self, and stark and bare He hang his sign out anywhere. My doctrine is to lay aside Cor tentions, and be satisfied; Jes; do yer best, and praise or blame That follers, that counts jest the same. I've allus noticed, great success Is mixed with trouble, more or less;

A New Rinkle.

And it's the man who does his best,

That gits more kicke than all the rest.

"Chris Finlaysen, sporting editor of the Senate saloon, has invented a unique uspidore. "Chris" says he believes it will work a moral revolution throughout the civilized world. It resembles the ordinary spitoon of commerce, except that it has in its base a drawer which is to hold sawdust. That drawer may be withdrawn and emptied, thus obviating the usual disagreeable task of cleaning. The patent is owned by model is on exhibition at Ord's tinning and plumbing establishment.

Sporting Item.

Early this forenoon the attention of Main street was centered on a piratical looking gang who issued stealthily from the Turf saloon, accompanied by two fox-tarriers and a rat. The rat was caged. The rodent was given a chance to escape in the broad street, but one of the little dogs was on him like a wink and dispatched him with a single snap. Arizona No money changed hands on the event.
